- Make a schedule to clean one room of the house each day before the big holidays. This will leave you plenty of time to tackle other tasks that need to be done, like cooking or gift-wrapping.
- Most household dirt comes from the outside. Suggest that friends and relatives remove their shoes before entering. Keep guests comfortable and happy by having a supply of inexpensive, disposable slippers on-hand for their use.
- For quick pick-ups, keep your Dyson Root 6 in a ready-to-use spot, such as a pantry or near the dining room table.
- Keep a large basket in an easily accessible, but inconspicuous place, like tucked beneath an end table. Use it to quickly declutter the house when unexpected guests are on the way.
- Hassle-free cleaning supplies—like pre-moistened furniture and window wipes, tossable toilet brush heads and instant stain removers—are great for fast touch-ups. Keep a grab-and-go caddy stocked and ready for when you need it.
- Institute a 15-minute nightly family cleanup of common areas like the kitchen or TV room. Make the most of the shared time by playing holiday music and rewarding kids with a treat like hot cocoa when the work is complete.
